SINCE 1968, PROVEN QUALITY

The company is established in 1968 as a fabrication and machining facility in Vicenza Italy. The focus is on manufacturing high precision components for specialised industrial application.

In 1977, in keeping with the tradition of Venetian attention to detail, reliability, entrepreneurial spirit and embracing technological innovation, Northern Italy becomes world renown as leaders in manufacturing and design. The Company now specialises in invention, design, development and manufacturing of automation systems for most major Italian brands within the automation industry.

In 2006 the company launches its own range of automation products and systems under a new dynamic brand and identity that will accompany them into the future: "Quiko Opening Solutions". The aim of the company is to promote and sell "Quiko" worldwide.

In 2015 a team of dedicated distributors is firmly established. All with a common desire to impress their customers with a product of quality and longevity.

DESIGN & PERFORMANCE

Quiko Products are manufactured using a philosophy that is both simple and revolutionary: With a strict focus on invention, design and manufacturing always being at optimum, all product components used in the task, must also be made to the same standard. Only then can we ensure that the quality of the final product is the very best available.

From initial design through to production, Quiko products are made using premium components, with all parts and accessories being created without any cost-saving on raw materials. Attention to detail is given to the smallest part, with a finite goal of total excellence.

The staff employed at Quiko that manufacture every single item of Quiko Automation products, are fully qualified technicians; consistently trained and re-trained on market trends and on the latest techniques of applied design, and component manufacture, right up to final assembly.
